MA in European History and Civilisation

Following a recent five-year formal evaluation review of this unique programme which takes in three of the most famous ancient universities of Europe – Oxford, Leiden and Paris, we received much positive feedback. Here is a selection of quotes we received.

---

- "The most valuable part of the course was the international experience -- the chance to compare the learning environments at three, different universities."
- "The intimate learning environment -- the small group sizes, the library and social events, was extremely motivating."
- "Great overview of lectures by great professors."
- "The most valuable part was the opportunity to do historical research and to be familiarized with different academic approaches."
- "My MA helped me in obvious ways - insight, analysis, research, all the necessary skills."
- "Coherent and well-structured."
- "The extra skill you learn with the Europaeum MA is to do it quick, efficient and still have fun on the side."
- "The diverse international perspectives on history as an academic discipline have changed the way I study, read and write history."
- "I just wish I had even more time to take full advantage of being at three exciting universities."
- "I look back very fondly on the course and am happy to confirm it has contributed greatly both professionally and intellectually to my life and career since graduation."
- "Not only did I develop a resourcefulness for living and studying abroad, but also the ability to cope with any obstacle that came my way."
